Route birds by weight and quality to maximize yield and minimize waste

Maximize yield, minimize waste

The Distribution Manager connects to upstream grading and weighing systems, including the Bird Weigher and Multi Vision Quality Grading. With accurate bird-by-bird data on weight and visual quality, it intelligently assigns each bird to its most profitable destination—cut-up, deboning, or whole bird—minimizing giveaway and maximizing value.

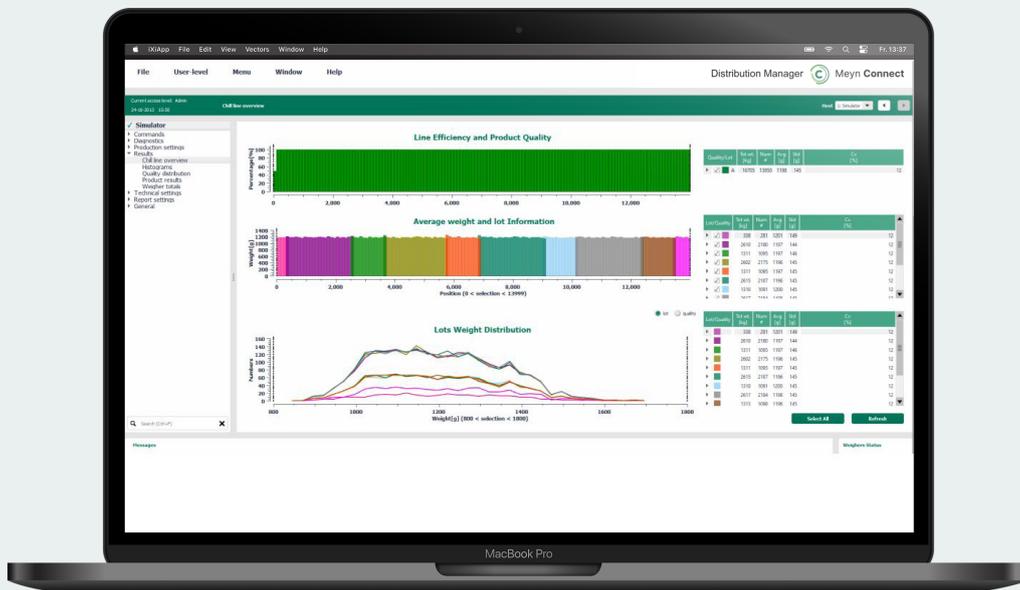

- ✔ Live bird routing based on integrated weight and quality data
- ✔ Real-time allocation for cut-up, deboning, or whole bird lines
- ✔ Compatible with Meyn weighing & grading solutions
- ✔ Modular, scalable design for easy integration and expansion
- ✔ Supports yield optimization, traceability, and labor reduction

Automate sorting decisions for consistent, hands-free operation

Consistency through automation

Routing decisions are made automatically based on live input from grading and weighing modules. This eliminates the need for manual sorting, reducing labor costs and human error. It also ensures consistent processing flow and supports traceability at high line speeds.

Connect seamlessly to grading and weighing systems

Data-driven allocation in real time

By integrating with systems like Meyn's Bird Weigher and Multi Vision Quality Grading, the Distribution Manager turns quality and weight data into action. Live data previews enable planners to align supply with demand in real time—allowing accurate routing well in advance of final processing stages.
